How I Remember...Joe Bologna

I remember when I was a small boy, my family and I would go to my Nonna's house every Sunday for dinner. She would start her sauce in the morning from scratch and the aromas of simmering tomatoes, fresh garlic, sweet basil, parsley and fresh grated parmesan would filter throughout the house.

My aunts and uncles would settle at Nonna's dining room table discussing current events and family matters, while my cousins and I would give chase throughout the house, occasionally slowing down to oblige a parent's warning. I can still visualize a sort of "organized confusion" among my relatives until dinner would descend upon us and quiet our song and play. Above all, I remember best, the generous meals Nonna lovingly served.

"Mangia, mangia" Nonna would say.
 "Mangia, mangia" eat, eat.
 "Oh Joey, you make me so happy"
 So I get bigger and BIGGER, but Nonna is happy.

I wanted to learn to cook like Nonna.
 So now it's my turn.
 Nonna would say "Do it this way"
 I would say "what about this way?"
 She'd say "Ok Joey, I not teach you"
 I'd say "Ok Nonna, YOUR way"
 How I remember...

"Ask your server about menu items that are cooked to order. Consuming raw or undercooked meats, poultry, seafood, shellfish, or eggs may increase your risk of foodborne illness."
